

Q-HAS lies above the classical error-cost frontier on each held-out class measured (2 of 4)

Per-panel error axes are independent: instability classes differ in dynamic range, and a shared axis would imply a cross-class comparability that does not hold. T annotated ratio is dimensionless and is comparable across panels.